

SAFEGUARDING ADULTS

OVERVIEW

Safeguarding the health and well-being of adults at risk of harm is a fundamental pillar of a fair and compassionate society. This means that we all have a responsibility to both help prevent abuse and to act quickly when we see it.

This online learning course covers key aspects of adult safeguarding including - what it is; who is at risk of harm; who might pose a risk; and where risks are more probable. It also identifies the legislation relating to safeguarding and explores different types of harm and how to recognise them.

The course concludes with a look at who is responsible for safeguarding, and the frameworks for implementing effective safeguarding measures.

OBJECTIVES

- Identify the what, who and where of safeguarding
- Explain the Care Act 2014 and other legislation relating to safeguarding
- Explore 10 adult safeguarding issues and the signs to look for
- Describe the responsibilities of local authorities and partner agencies
- Investigate the wider view of safeguarding responsibilities
- Establish the principles of safeguarding, and the three Rs of safeguarding

DURATION

75 minutes. Including interactions and assessment.

AUDIENCE

This online learning course applies to all employees that come into contact with vulnerable adults and would be a useful course to include as part of onboarding training.
